SALT LAKE COUNTY ANNOUNCES NEW DIRECTOR OF AGING & ADULT SERVICES

Salt Lake City – Salt Lake County Aging & Adult Services has named a new Division Director. Paul Leggett, who was previously the agency’s Associate Director, has been named to the role.

“I’m excited to begin leading the Division and energized to begin exploring ways that we can innovate and strategically meet community needs,” says Leggett.

Leggett is an England native who immigrated to the United States almost fifteen years ago. He has been with the Division of Aging & Adult Services for over a year. Prior to joining the agency, he worked as the Executive Director of Community Action Partnership of Utah – a statewide association for nonprofits that serve low-income families.

About Salt Lake County Aging & Adult Services

Aging & Adult Services is a Division of Salt Lake County Human Services that promotes independence for older adults through advocacy, engagement, and access to resources.

Salt Lake County Aging & Adult Services operates 16 senior centers located throughout Salt Lake County. Senior Centers are community centers for older adults that feature workout facilities, exercise and wellness classes, workshops, social groups, and midday meals for adults over 60 in Salt Lake County.
