Salt Lake City, UT—Salt Lake County Mayor Ben McAdams released the following statement:

"I would like to thank Gov. Herbert for his thoughtful approach regarding this important issue. Whatever the final outcome, the work of PRADA will have lasting implications for the residents of Salt Lake County and the state of Utah. I support the governor's position that the ultimate decision should be driven by facts and data. I will be a watchdog for Salt Lake County taxpayers. Governor Herbert and I share a desire to achieve progress for the benefit of the people we serve."
