Customer service is everyone’s responsibility. Every time we interact with an individual, answer the telephone, send an email, write a letter, or attend a meeting, we are making an impression on our customers – whether they are county employees, vendors, residents, or fellow Contracts & Procurement employees. These customer service standards were created to ensure that the quality of service to all our customers meets or exceeds their expectations.

What are our guiding principles?
These customer service standards are consistent with the county’s values, our office values and the mission of Salt Lake County Contracts & Procurement.

County Values:
Salt Lake County Employees care about one another
We serve with integrity
We value and respect people
We strive for excellence

Our Mission:

Find solutions
Be adaptable

What we are committed to -
- We seek feedback to learn, continually innovate and improve
- We practice not taking or making critical feedback personal

Updated 2.4.2020
- We strive to become conscious of our own biases and give the benefit of the doubt
- We honor and respect diversity yet also recognize our commonalities with all people
- We participate, communicate and listen with respect
- We are professional, honest and speak up
- We know and understand our jobs, so we are ready to provide answers or know where to research an answer if we do not have an immediate response
- We take the extra step when helping customers
- We do not say “no” without an explanation and offering alternative solutions
- We will not stop assisting a customer because it extends beyond the walls of our agency; we are committed to directing them to the right place if we can’t help them
